

Dear Sparta Longshanks of Rebelton,

It is greatly appreciated to receive news that Lord Artural's son has not come to a foul end until possibly sometime this day. He was traveling with those he would openly associate with in Troll's Bridge, so we are afraid we can be of no assistance in contacting any other associates he may have in the city.

Your stories of Eregard's escapades over the last few months should be entertaining and you are invited to visit House Artural to recount such tales as you would share any time you find yourself in the neighborhood.

Sincerely,

Gavisal Artural

Seneschal of House Artural

